Dr. Wallace Keenly Regrets Leaving His Position In Alberta

But Principal Designate of Queen's University Hopes to Do Even Greater Things.

By THOMAS WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
OTTAWA, May 26.—Dr. R. C. Wallace, principal designate of Queen's University, to turn his back on his position at the University of Alberta and the hope of doing even greater things in the wider field of eastern Canada.

In 1911, he was adjunct of the Officers' Training School at Camp St. Charles, near Winnipeg. In the next year, he was principal of the O.C. Canadian Officers' Training Corps, until today I found Dr. Wallace in a little dark room where an illustrated lecture of the Royal Society of Canada was taking place.

RANK KEEN DESIRE
We got out into the sunshine and motored around, talked of old times and new, and after the lapse of years I found in Dr. Wallace the same keen desire for public service as had put him in this little white tent in a military camp in war days.

Dr. Wallace's chief worry was about leaving Alberta and the scene of his life. He had made there. It was a real wrench, time could not take his admiration for the people of Alberta out every now and then. He said nothing of the fact, however, that had been conferred upon him one of the greatest laurels of the Dominion had offered him its principalship.

I knew Dr. Grant and Dr. Fyfe, the principals who preceded him as Queen's, and it is a great tradition he will have to live up to; but there is authority in Queen's who doubt that he will.

On a hill overlooking the broad reaches of the Ottawa river, Dr. Wallace told me his creed with respect to education.

ISSUE IN EDUCATION
"In the final analysis the issue in education is not knowledge in itself alone but the reflection and judgment that knowledge enables one to use in dealing with the issues of life and to contribute through that and one's lofty emotions to the real values in life," said Dr. Wallace.

He paused a moment then added reflectively: "I feel more and more that when we take of people we do not talk of them as men and women of great knowledge, but as men and women of sound judgment who can be relied on to arrive at that judgment by the knowledge they possess."

"Education therefore is more than knowledge. It is knowledge and all the other things which guide our lives. We are guided by things not based on knowledge so much as by desires and feelings."

"I rather think we have been inclined to underestimate the emotional or feeling side of life and that is to be kept in mind in education more than it has been done, and ways and means taken liberally and judiciously for elevating and refining or emotional feelings."

VERY IMPORTANT
The technique of that must be worked out as one goes on," continued Dr. Wallace. "I believe in the indirect influence of the facts. I believe it is very important. I do not just know how it operates; I do not think the psychologists know, but the influence is there none the less."

"I believe, too, in the relationship of groups of people, in clubs or similar associations. Life is helped by interchange of ideas and discussion. Discussion often helps more than reading."

One gets other angles by discussion. That is more in the realm of developing intuition rather than knowledge.

CARE WILL BE TAKEN IN ANY REFUND PLAN

Rights of People Will Be Protected Hon. E. C. Manning Says

Care will be taken by the provincial government in its refunding scheme that rights of the people are protected and that no one is worse off than before, said Hon. Ernest C. Manning, provincial secretary and minister of trade and industry, in addressing a meeting of the Edmonton Protestant Bible conference at the Strand theatre on Sunday evening.

MUST GO THROUGH
Dealing in part with problems confronting the government, Hon. E. C. Manning stated that "refund" must go through. It is not a question of whether it should or can be effected, it must be brought about. The wages of money must be reduced the same way as have been the wages of labor and prices of commodities.

But in its efforts in this direction, the government must protect the best interests of its bondholders and to insure that no repudiation of just debts take place. This, he said, was one reason why Premier Abernethy went to Ottawa.

TAKING DEEP INTEREST
The minister declared that the correspondence received by the conference showed plainly that the Alberta people were taking a deep and sincere interest in the refunding plan and that the government was taking a deep and sincere interest in the refunding plan.

The greatest problem facing the government at present was the refunding of the public debt. Mr. Manning was the pianist of the evening and played a solo.

Recover Body Of Man Drowned Last Fall In Manitoba
WINNIPEG, May 26.—Still held fast by the ice, the body of a man believed to be Edward Sharpe who, with Robert Henderson, was drowned in God's Lake in Northern Manitoba last fall, when their canoe was swamped, was found Monday.

Wireless messages to Winnipeg told of the finding, and the body Stanley Carbell, an employee of the Jewett Island Mines, was walking on the lake when he saw the body through the transparent ice. Arrangements were being made to remove it as soon as the lake ice thaws.

Henderson's body was recovered soon after the double drowning.

Nazi Kids Drum Up Interest

Boys' love of the martial roll of drums and parades is catered to by Nazi organizations devoted to inculcating German youth with loyalty to the party. A group of uniformed drummer boys are pictured in a drill near Berlin, as part of the "Year for Youth" movement carried on throughout the Reich. Drumsticks raised, their eyes are riveted on the leader for a signal to beat out a stirring rhythm.

Claim Made 135,000 Black Legionnaires In Michigan Alone

Political Implications Of Hooded and Robbed Organization Pushed Into Foreground.

DETROIT, May 26.—Political implications of the hooded and robed Black Legion came into the foreground last night with the assertion by Harry Cohn, chief investigator for the Wayne County (Detroit) prosecutor's office that members told him the ultimate aim was a United States dictatorship.

Cohn previously had disclosed claims of members that there were 135,000 Black Legionnaires in Michigan alone, all pledged to possess "the atom bomb" and all organized along military lines.

5,000 MEMBERS
In Lima, O. V. F. Effinger, who answered queries about his reported connection with the order by saying "what if I am the leader, we do not countenance murder," said the B. L. Legion has 5,000 members.

Cohn said members told him that the organization was perfected for the purpose of establishing a dictatorship "when the time is ripe," and the national leader (not Effinger) who he said, lives near the Ohio-West Virginia border.

Grads Hold Final Practice for El Dorado Series—Dust Gout In His Eyes—Chief Jimmy Joins Seattle

Taking a day off yesterday, the Commercial Grade will hold their final workout of the season tonight. It is probable that three or four five-minute periods will be played against the boys in order that Captain Glad Fry—beg pardon, Glad Fry—Douglas—may have an opportunity to get in a few minutes practice after his three-week holiday in the Coast. The remainder of the workout will be devoted to shooting drills, as it is now too close to the opening game of the series to indulge in anything very strenuous. Coach Page believes his team to be in the finest possible condition, and if the Grads should be unfortunate enough to drop the series it will be for some other reason than lack of condition.

The El Dorado girls have been in Calgary since Saturday, and are working out against teams down here tomorrow night, although no announcement to that effect has been made by Coach W. T. Bledsoe. The visiting girls are described by a dispatch from Calgary as the biggest girls the Grads have ever faced, several of them standing over six feet in height. That is probably true, is vouched for by the members of the Tulsa team, who played here a short time ago.

There are seven players in the El Dorado line-up, every one of whom is an all-American, and five of whom played here three years ago with the Durant Cardinals. As a matter of fact, these girls have played together for some years and are so good that there seems to be no difficulty whatever in finding a sponsor wherever they choose to travel. This will be their last series as a representative of El Dorado, but a little thing like that doesn't worry these girls—five of them having already signed up with Memphis, Tennessee, for next season.

While not exactly a "revenge" series, it may as well be admitted that both teams will be out there doing their level best to take the series in three straight games. That is exactly what the visitors do on their previous jaunt to Edmonton, and you may remember that in China that the Grads will be going their utmost to turn the tables, with interest added.

The first game of the series starts on Thursday night, and the remaining games will be played on alternate nights, with all contests starting at 8:30 sharp. Two outside officials will handle the series—the one at the request of the visiting club, Henry "Duke" Lethbridge and Jimmy Taylor of Calgary have been given the assignment.

Some Right Smart Shooting

There was a lot of mighty keen competition out at the Edmonton Gun Club yesterday as the outstanding shotgun experts of central Alberta swung into action in the big merchandise shoot and those that carried prizes home had to earn them all the way. You can imagine from Fenoika who entered the shoot made things plenty tough.

Ed Dittmar, lean veteran from Ponoka, went quietly to work with his gun and when the smoke had cleared away he had a total of 30 targets. "I can't seem to get going," Ed explained ruefully as he looked at the scoreboard. "I just got done firing the old tractor for a couple weeks and I guess I haven't the dexterity out of my eyes yet." Once Ed gets rid of this dust, he will probably go on breaking them indefinitely, if his score yesterday is any criterion.

The toughest competition of the entire day developed between Len Wise and Jack Miller in the sixth event. They shot 20 straight breaks each and then went on to shoot 10 off. They shot 45 birds each without a miss and then decided that they were all right and went on to shoot 10 more. They shot 45 birds each without a miss, but since 45 of these targets were close they were not eligible for the long run prize. In the matter of tie-breaking, this is probably a record in trapshooting.

Chief Rattlesnake Gets Bid

Chief Jimmy Rattlesnake, the full-blooded Cree Indian from the Hobbema Reserve whose pitching has been a feature here and throughout central Alberta for a number of years, will join the Hobbema team for the El Dorado series, having received a wire over the weekend asking him to report at Seattle at once. There are real possibilities in Jimmy's lean frame and rubber arm, but the chief also packs a lot of potential headaches for his day's allowance, five dollars.

In many ways he is a model young man, but he has an old-fashioned idea that breakfasts are good for players and the more of them you eat the better you are. Several years ago he was playing for the Hobbema team in the morning game and was scheduled to pitch in the afternoon. He told the manager he wanted some money to eat, so he was given half his day's allowance, five dollars. At game time he could not be found and a frantic search finally unearthed him at a cafe eating the last of five dollars worth of steak. The first six pitches brought a fine assortment of triples, doubles and homers, and the chief was chased to the dugout, where he went peacefully to sleep.

Then Webb King took the chief to Calgary to play ball. The Royals did not reach Cowtown until 1:00 a.m. and ate a hearty meal before retiring. At 5:00 a.m. Rattlesnake knocked at Webb's door and anxiously demanded when they would leave for Calgary. Seattle beef interests will probably see a marked increase in business once Jimmy arrives.

Supreme Court Kills Another Law Enacted Under New Deal Plan

Decision Sharply Divided 5 to 4—Ruling Says State Violates States Rights.

By JAMES W. DOUTHAT, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

A sharply divided four to three decision of the United States Supreme Court today has struck unconstitutional the 1937 Municipal Bankruptcy Act.

On the ground that it violated states rights the majority said the federal government had no authority to interfere with the financial affairs of cities, counties and other political subdivisions.

The court's decision was a sharp rebuff to the New Deal plan to reorganize municipal governments.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HIAL COCHRANE Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

"Here, now what is this all about?" the Times heard we (honey) shout. The pelicans have left us. We are in an awful plight. We should have stayed upon the ground, instead of calling all around. We will be lucky, this time if this mess turns out all right. Then Doty snapped, "That's just what I want!"

like you. You never think we will pull through, when we're in our predicament. I am not going to fret. The bird said we would have some fun, so please be patient. The chocolate is not far from here. We'll reach there soon. I'll bet. And then the wave broke. Came a shout, and so it fell when we were drenched. The next thing that the younglings knew, they lay on the shore. Just then a big wave came along, everyone. The chocolate had been real strong. The wave rose high and then fell. The surf began to roar. And then the wave broke.
